

New Municipal Manager to interact with public

Do not miss open forum - 16 March

Neil Diamond, acting Municipal Manager of City of Mbombela will provide an unprecedented opportunity for local businesses owners to participate in an open forum with the city management.

The event is facilitated by the Kruger Lowveld Chamber of Business and Tourism (KLCBT) of which the mandate includes building and maintaining meaningful relationships with all spheres of government and like-minded organisations and by acting as liaison between these entities and the local business community.

Diamond was appointed in July last year and received a clear mandate from the MEC and Executive Mayor to implement a turnaround strategy and establish a financially sound local government with a transparent clean administration delivering quality services to the citizens of Mbombela.

Diamond drafted a financial turnaround plan for the City which was approved by council at the end of last year

With over 16 years of local government experience, he brings a host of skills and expertise to the City of Mbombela in his new role as Municipal Manager.

He has a clear comprehension of business operating models, systems and business processes needed for efficient and effective local government.

He has a strong business background and is well experienced in ICT and real estate.

Shortly after his appointment, Diamond drafted a financial turnaround plan for the City which was approved by council at the end of last year.

During this forum he will share details about the turnaround plan, actions initiated to achieve set targets and in what way businesses can contribute towards the future success of the City.

He will also share details of the city's Vision 2030, a highly interesting document for providing a look into the future requirements for infrastructure, development and housing, etc.

KLCBT's Linda Grimbeek invites all business owners to attend this breakfast meeting.
